NORTHERN QUEENSLAND

An Australian Government Initiative

Welcome

On behalf of Northern Queensland Primary Health Network (NQPHN), we would like to invite all health practitioners and their teams to Cairns, in magnificent Far North Queensland, to attend the inaugural myPHN Conference this July. The theme of the conference for this inaugural year is 'Connecting General Practice'.

With the increasing calls for enhanced integration between primary and acute health care, General Practice must be supported in increasing its capability to have meaningful care connections to improve the patient journey, ensuring that consumers receive the right care, at the right time, and in the right place. This year's conference aims to highlight General Practice as the patient's medical home, with allied health professionals, dentists, pharmacists, mental health clinicians and hospital-based service providers engaged in client centric models of care.

The organising committee has planned an exciting conference which includes access to pre-conference workshops focusing on key local priorities including methamphetamines addiction, suicide prevention and practice sustainability.

The plenary sessions will address an array of national and local health and social issues, with inspiring keynote speakers and conference streams on innovation, connected care and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health.

The myPHN Conference 2016 allows plenty of time for discussion during the plenary and concurrent sessions, as well as during the NQPHN Primary Care Providers Awards evening and the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Breakfast.

There is also time for you to enjoy the wonderful natural attractions of Cairns and the surrounding Far North Queensland coast and hinterlands including the Great Barrier Reef. The myPHN Conference is also the perfect opportunity for you to catch up with colleagues to network and make new acquaintances.

The NQPHN team is looking forward to seeing you this July in Cairns for high quality professional skilling and an engaging winter retreat.

Robin Moore
CEO NQPHN

About the Conference

This year's theme 'myPHN 2016: Connecting General Practice' will focus on connecting health providers to deliver better health outcomes through general practice, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander medical services, allied health, pharmacy, dental and hospital and health services.

Conference Chair, Professor George Rubin, will lead an interactive two-day program including pre-conference workshops, a NQPHN Primary Care Providers Awards evening, and an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Breakfast.

Who should attend?

The myPHN 2016 conference is open to a wide range of health professionals:

- General Practitioners
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workers
- Allied health professionals
- Pharmacists
- Dentists
- Nurses
- Medical administrators
- Policy makers
- Medical educators
- Local government and community advocates
- Medical allied, health and nursing students.

Abstracts

myPHN 2016 invites authors or organisations interested in submitting an abstract for the inaugural myPHN conference.

Abstracts must be of no more than 500 words and relate to the conference theme – myPHN 2016: Connecting General Practice. All proposals will be reviewed by the organising committee. Presentations will be selected to provide a program that offers a comprehensive and diverse treatment of issues related to the conference theme. Authors will be notified by email of the outcome of their abstract submission.

If you are interested in submitting an abstract for myPHN 2016, you can simply contact hwqevents@healthworkforce.com.au for an application form or download one via www.ivvy.com/event/NQPHN/

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Worker Bursary

The Northern Queensland Primary Health Network will be offering 20 bursaries to enable Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Workers/Practitioners currently practising to attend the myPHN 2016: Connecting General Practice conference. The bursary will cover conference registration, travel and accommodation costs for the conference period (up to the sum of $750.00).

The myPHN 2016: Connecting General Practice conference is a highlight event on the general practice events calendar, attended by GPs, medical educators, students, registrars, key influencers in Australian general practice, and members of practice team. The 2016 theme will focus on connecting health providers to deliver better health outcomes through general practice, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander medical services, allied health, pharmacy, dental and hospital and health services.

Recipients of the NQPHN bursary will be selected on the basis of their:

- eligibility as a current practising Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Worker/Practitioner and of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander origin
- demonstrated interest in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health
- written statement outlining the ways in which the bursary would support their professional development.
