

Planning for the future of primary care workforce

Speaker:

This workshop will look at workforce challenges faced by regional, rural, and remote service providers, identify issues and generate discussion to identify solutions to support the provision of safe, sustainable primary care services to regional, rural, and remote Queensland through:

- identification of key professional and personal factors to be addressed for recruitment and retention of staff
- effective workforce planning, career pathways, and opportunities to re-model primary health care services
- resource hubs and other support for career and professional development.

Information sharing:

- career pathways
- funding options
- new online resource hub for those with recruitment responsibility in the health industry
- workforce supports to priority general practices
- supports available to health professionals for career and professional development.
